

On the ^{adjective} [] trip to ^{place} [], my ^{adjective} [] friend and I decided to invent a game. Since this would be a rather ^{adjective} [] trip, it would need to be a game with ^{noun, plural} [] and ^{noun, plural} []. Using our ^{noun} [] to ^{verb} [], we tried to get the ^{noun} [] next to us to play too, but they just ^{verb} [] ed at us and ^{action verb} [] away. After a few rounds, we thought the game could use some ^{noun, plural} [] so we turned on the ^{noun} [] and started ^{verb that ends in "ing"} [] to the ^{noun} [] that came on. This lasted for ^{measurement of time} [] before I got ^{adjective} [] and decided to ^{action verb} [] I'll never ^{verb} [] that trip, it was the ^{adjective} [] ^{possessive noun} [] road trip of my []